The three story, two and three bay wide brick houses lining this side of Warren Ave. were built for a middle class market and are much larger and more commodious than the average two story plus attic type of house built for nearby working class tenants. 202-220 Warren Ave. were all originally built with gable roofs but most have since been remodeled and now have shed roofs with bracketed cornices. 222-228 Warren Ave. were built in the 1870's in the currently fashionable Italianate style, with shed roofs and bracketed cornices. Each of these large, expensive houses is three bays wide and has a marble-faced basement. The first floor areas of 826-828 Warren Ave. now serve as an antique shop.

DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

This three story, two bay brick house with shed roof and modillion cornice represents the second phase of building along this side of Warren Ave., being built, along with its neighbors to the east, in the 1870's.

The house is three stories in height, 15 1/2' wide, and occupies a lot 95' deep. There is a three story high, one bay wide and deep stair hall extension which connects the main structure to a two story high, four bay deep rear addition. There is also an extra two story, one bay deep frame addition. The house is constructed in running bond. The shed roof is capped by a simple wooden cornice consisting of a deeply projecting crown molding supported by a row of carved modillions, set above a plain freize area decorated with a row of cut-work scallops. Two carved end brackets frame and support the cornice. There is a double chimney located along the west end of the house and a rear end chimney located at the north-east corner of the rear addition.

The first floor of the house has two narrow windows instead of just one window. All of the window openings have splayed brick lintels. The windows of the first floor have stone sills; those above have brick header sills. The first floor windows are filled with double hung, 12/6 sash. The second and third floor windows have new 6/6 sash. A modern six panel door is set beneath a single light transom with a segmentally arched brick lintel. The house sits on a fairly high basement, the entrance being reached by three marble steps. There are two rectangular coal openings with iron grates set beneath the first floor windows.

The floor plan is essentially the same as that seen at 214 Warren Ave. See under 212-214 Warren Ave. for details.
